

Speaker Intro

Our special guest today has spoken to hundreds of people about communication, leadership, marketing, emotional intelligence and finding your inner hero.

Known has a strategic guide that breaks the status quo of business as usual, Christy has helped organizations like Executive Women International, the National Association of Credit Managers, the City Council of New Albany, and many companies.

When she is not speaking to groups and guiding executives, she can be found researching superheroes at the local movie theatre or driving the backroads on sunny days with her favorite music.

Everyone please give a huge welcome to Christy Smallwood!
